This Privacy Policy applies only to information collected on or through the Services offered to you by Capcom USA, and to information shared with Capcom USA by certain third parties (as further described in this Privacy Policy). It does not apply to any other information collected by Capcom USA through any other means.

Please note that this Privacy Policy applies only to information submitted and collected via the Internet, and does not apply to information that may be collected by Capcom via offline means. Further, this Privacy Policy applies only to the Services offered and maintained by Capcom USA, and not to any websites, services, games, and/or applications offered and/or maintained by our international affiliates (e.g., Capcom Media Ventures, Capcom Asia, Capcom Europe, and Capcom Japan), or, unless otherwise described in this Privacy Policy, any other companies or organizations to which we link. Capcom USA is therefore not responsible for the content or activities provided on those websites, except as expressly provided in this Privacy Policy.

Third-Party Websites

Once you have clicked on an advertisement or a third-party link on our site and have left our websites or other Services, our Privacy Policy no longer applies and you must read the privacy policy of the advertiser/third party to see how your information will be collected and processed on its website.

Please note that the Capcom merchandise and apparel store (accessible at <http://shop.capcom.com/>) is a third-party website operating under license from Capcom USA, and is not covered by this Privacy Policy. Specifically, all personal information, including purchase information, collected through the Capcom store is collected and used by Scalefast, Inc. pursuant to the privacy policy that governs that store (the "Scalefast Privacy Policy," available at <https://store.capcom.com/us/docs/privacy>), which we encourage you to review carefully. You may reach out directly to Scalefast with any questions you have regarding their privacy practices by visiting <https://www.scalefast.com/#contact-mod>. Pursuant to the Scalefast Privacy Policy, Scalefast shares all information collected from consumers of the Capcom store with Capcom USA. ## • Q2. What types of information do we collect about you?

Capcom respects your privacy and, accordingly, we strive to minimize our collection of your personal information. Personal information is information that can be used to directly, or indirectly with other collected information, identify and contact you. If required by applicable law, Capcom will request your specific consent prior to collecting any of your personal information. If you prefer, however, not to disclose your personal information to Capcom, you may not be able to enjoy certain features of our Services.

Our Services and European Economic Area Users

Data protection law in Europe requires a "lawful basis" for collecting and processing personal information from citizens or residents of the European Economic Area. Our lawful bases include:

Specific Affirmative Consent: As stated above, Capcom will request your specific affirmative consent, if required by applicable law, in a clear, concise, and specific manner prior to collecting and processing your personal information.

Performance of Contract: In some instances, we will need to collect your personal information to comply with our contractual obligation to deliver the Services to you (e.g., pursuant to our End User License Agreement for a Service), such as by collecting your IP address to facilitate matchmaking in an online multiplayer video game, or collecting your telemetry data to display your player statistics and rankings to you.

Legal Compliance: Sometimes the law says we need to collect and process your personal information. For example, a court may order us to process your data for a particular purpose other than that for which it was initially collected.

Legitimate Interests: On occasion, we may collect and process your personal information when we have a good and fair reason to use your data, and we do so in ways which do not hurt your interests and rights. In other words, we may collect and process your data to pursue our legitimate interests in a way that might reasonably be expected as part of running our business and that does not materially impact your rights, freedom, or interests.

Our Services and Children

We do not knowingly collect or maintain personal information from users under 13 in the United States, and under the applicable age of consent in other countries ("Child" or "Children") other than as permitted by law, for example, in support of our internal operations (in the U.S.) and legitimate interests or contractual or legal obligations (in the EU). We take Children's privacy seriously and encourage parents to play an active role in their Children's online experience at all times.

If Capcom learns that a Child's personal information has been collected, we will delete the account. If parents believe that we have unintentionally collected their Child's personal information, they should contact us to request the deletion of the information at:

Information Collected Through Third Party Services

i. Information Collected Through Social Networking Services

You can engage with our Services on or through third-party social networking websites such as Facebook, Twitch, Twitter, or other third-party social media plug-ins and applications which may be hosted on separate websites, or embedded within or integrated with our Services. Where practicable, we will provide clear notice before you are directed to a third-party social networking website, plug-in, or application. When you engage with our Services on or through a third-party social networking website, plug-in, and/or application, you may authorize us to have access to certain information from your social media profile (e.g., name, e-mail address, photo, birthday, location, your list of friends, people you follow and/or who follow you, the posts or "likes" you make) to deliver content or as part of the operation of the Service. We may also obtain non-personal information from your interaction with our Services (e.g., content viewed, game performance and scores, and information about advertisements within the content you have been shown or may have clicked on).

By engaging with our Services on and through third-party social networking websites, you consent to the sharing of such personal information with Capcom in accordance with this Privacy Policy. Please note that when you provide personal information to us through social networking websites, it may be publicly viewed by other members of those social networking websites, and we cannot prevent further use of the information by third parties. Further, any use of third-party social networking websites, plug-ins, or applications will be subject to such third-party social network's respective terms of service and privacy policy, and may result in the collection of information about your use of our Services by those third parties.

ii. Information Collected Through First Party Platforms

You can also engage with certain portions of our Services through certain first-party and/or mobile platforms (the "First-Party Platform(s)"). For instance, if you desire to use features of our Services by signing in through or otherwise linking with, for example, your PSN account or Steam account to authenticate yourself, some information from those First-Party Platforms (e.g., your account ID, date of birth/age, username, language preference, entitlement information, achievement/trophy information, and/or geographic information), and/or information regarding your usage of our Services (e.g., web analytics data or game telemetry data) (collectively, the "Platform Information"), which may have been collected by the First-Party Platform may be transmitted to Capcom. Further, some First-Party Platforms, such as mobile platform providers, may provide to us additional information such as your precise location or contact list information. We will collect this information only if you provide your affirmative consent.

Where required by applicable law, Capcom will request your specific affirmative consent prior to collecting and processing any Platform Information. Otherwise, by signing in and/or linking with a First-Party Platform in connection with your use of the Services, you hereby acknowledge and agree that Platform Information may be transmitted to us, and that all Platform Information transmitted to us may be used by Capcom in accordance with this Privacy Policy and any applicable terms of consent required by a First-Party Platform provider. Further, your use of the First-Party Platform will be subject to such First-Party Platform's respective terms of service and privacy policy.

Information Collected Through Cookies and Other Web-Based Technologies

We collect information through web-based technologies, such as "cookies," to improve our Services. For example, when you use one of our Services, we collect your IP address. An IP address is often associated with the portal through which you enter the Internet, like your ISP (Internet Service Provider), your company, or your university. At times, we use IP addresses to collect information regarding the frequency with which our users visit various parts of our websites. At other times, we collect your IP address to facilitate location-based matchmaking in our online multiplayer Services.

i. Cookies

Our web-based Services use cookies. A cookie is a small file consisting of letters and numbers that is downloaded to and stored on your computer or mobile device when you visit a website. Each cookie is unique to your web browser or device. There are several different types of cookies:

- Session cookies, which only last as long as your visit to the website. Session cookies are used for things such as remembering what you put into your shopping cart as you browse a website or to ensure that your bank account information cannot be accessed after you leave the bank's website.
- Persistent cookies, which last for a longer period of time, including in between sessions. Persistent cookies are used for things like remembering your preferences and choices when you re-visit a website or for keeping you logged in to a website.
- First- and third-party cookies, refer to the entity that is placing the cookie on your computer or device. First-party cookies are placed by the website that you are visiting; third-party cookies are placed by a third party, such as an advertising company that is posting ads on the website that you are visiting.

We use the cookies for the following purposes:

- Strictly necessary functionality: We use several persistent cookies that which are strictly necessary to enable you to move around the website and use its features. Without these cookies, we would not be able to provide certain functions of our sites, such as automatic sign-in to Capcom-Unity.

- Analytical or Performance purposes: To measure visitor behavior, such as how many times a visitor visits the site, so that we can improve our site and provide you with a better experience.

Depending on your choice of browser (e.g., Edge, Chrome, Firefox, etc.), you may be able to modify your browser so that it notifies you when cookies are sent to it. Alternatively, you can refuse to accept cookies altogether, and you can also delete cookies that have already been set. You can do this through your browser settings. Each browser is a little different, so refer to your browser's help menu to learn the correct way to modify your settings. However, if you turn cookies off, you will not have access to many features that make your web experience smoother, such as the features mentioned above, and some of our services may not function properly.

To support our web pages, we sometimes also embed content from third-party websites, such as video content from YouTube. As a result, when you visit a page containing such content, you will be presented with third-party cookies from those third-party websites. Similarly, you will also see embedded 'share' buttons on Capcom web pages that enable users to easily share content with their friends through a number of popular social networks. When you click on one of those buttons, a cookie will be set by the service through which you have chosen to share content, such as Facebook or Twitter. Capcom does not control the placement of those cookies and you should check the relevant third-party's website for more information on how to restrict the placement of those cookies.

Finally, we may take your personal information and make it anonymous. We do this either by combining it with information about other individuals (aggregating your information with information about other individuals), or by removing characteristics (e.g., your name or other identifying information) that make the information personally identifiable to you. This process is known as de-personalizing your information. We may use de-personalized information in any way and share it with third parties without your consent.
